

Rob Stevenson

Your alias:

many

Family (married, divorced, etc; children, grandchildren; ages):

I just got engaged in February to Tess Comar, a woman I met in the church pew next to me in Los Angeles. We are getting married July 18 in a small family wedding in San Diego. Tess is 27 so intent is to begin a family (a little slow to get things going there, Rob?)

Anything you would like to share about your family:

My father died in 1999 at age 96 and my mother, who is still living, is 98, so I am hoping to benefit from these genes. I am fortunate to have two brothers and extended family living nearby in San Diego.

Your profession/vocation/occupation (i.e. where do you get the funds to maintain your lifestyle?):

I have been a "headhunter" for the past 19 years, mostly for people working in accounting and finance jobs. I started my own firm, Bulls-Eye Search, in 2002, and have worked from a home office since using contract research companies ever since.
www.bulls-eyearch.com.

College, reform school; major(s); degree(s):

UNC – Chapel Hill, 1979, English/ Political Science

Military service:

Like most of us, Vietnam and my anti-war beliefs turned me off to joining the military when eligible.

Your avocations (civic, social, political, charitable):

Most of my public service work has been confined to Christian ministries. I became one of those strange "born again" types in 1990. I have taught an adult bible class for the past 10 years, and up until this month have chaired a committee overseeing a ministry for disadvantaged teens in Los Angeles.

Your hobbies, interests:

I still play tennis regularly and try haphazardly to stay in shape at the gym, etc. My fiancée is an excellent player so that will be an impetus. Otherwise, the usual escapist interests – books, movies, current events (yawn).

Your greatest contribution to the betterment of mankind:

I hope teaching the Bible.

What has your time and education at Asheville School meant to you:

I had the opportunity to develop friendships in the small, tight-knit community we had; to develop excellent study habits; to gain exposure a wider range of knowledge than was probably possible elsewhere, including "alternative states of mind."

What are your most vivid memories of Asheville School:

Riding on a magic carpet and watching the trains go by? . . . Beyond that, I don't remember.

What else would you like to share (here is your chance to boast and outshine your classmates.

I still have all my hair!

Rob