

Dori Legg

Family:

Married to Howard Overshown

Anything you would like to share about your family:

They all rock

Your profession

Actor in NYC

College, reform school; major(s); degree(s):

BA Catholic University, Washington, DC

Military service, foreign legions or mercenaries):

limited covert operations in USO

Your hobbies, interests (what keeps you out of trouble or gets you into trouble in your spare time):

Biking, hiking, snowboarding, live music, traveling, writing

Your greatest contribution to the betterment of mankind:

staying indoors

What has your time and education at Asheville School meant to you:

I was lucky. I was a day student, with a car and the ratio didn't suck (158 boys/23 girls). Visually and physically the school was an oasis. A place that I spent nearly every hour learning, growing, crushing on, respecting, sharing, reflecting and enjoying. My academic, social and physical skills were challenged and augmented there.

What are your most vivid memories of Asheville School:

chapel; Saturday classes; special projects; plays with Barbara Beard and Jan Jones; Mr. Butler's English class; school trip to Mexico; girls lounge; Mills River trips; being outta my league in Haseman's US History class; singing with Anne in the chapel, stairwells and handball courts; dancing with Dave Clark and his plaid suit w/bow tie; learning Lacrosse from Harris Baker (two years on college teams buddy); cheerleading; detention; field hockey (EVERY female played); senior bowl; Eleanor and Bob's cement settee in the trees; basketball warm-ups (always a highlight); Doug Byrd's piano playing; climbing and painting the water tower with Bo Beckham; car pools and parties with the Doloboff's; Larry Wilcher's infectious energy; Doc playing banjo; Yonce playing tennis, Sola playing soccer; Charlie playing everything; senior porch, and of course the one and only Mr. Legg